OPPORTUNITY AGAIN KNOCKS.

NCE more we wish to call the attention of the public-spirited, far-seeing men of Cedar City and Iron county to the fact that an important opportunity is knocking at our door; an opportunity that we can ill afford to turn away empty.

It is too often the case that the opportunities that are lying in our own dooryard are lost sight of, while we strain our vision to encompass some imaginary advantage, whose chief enchantment is distance.

We refer specifically to the Dr. Green coal interests and project for the installation of an aerial tram by which to transport the coal from the face of the mountain to the valley below. This is a proposition easily within our reach, and which will mean more to this part of the state than anything that could be undertaken on a corresponding capital.

In the first place, there is excellent assurance that the erection of this tram will bring a branch of the Salt Lake Route. At a number of times in the past, the people of this section have offered liberal bonuses to secure a railroad for this section. They have offered right of way and terminal site and cash; they have offered to furnish the ties, or to grade the roadbed, but as yet nothing of a tangible character has resulted. Yet here is an opportunity, as far as can be ascertained, to secure the building of the road simply by the investment of a small amount of money, about $50,000, in an enterprise which in itself promises large returns on the money spent.

Here are a few of the pertinent facts that have been collected by Dr. Green and others since this project has been under consideration:

An aerial tram capable of handling one thousand tons of coal per day, will cost from $20,000 to $25,000, depending upon the type of equipment. It is estimated that another $25,000 will be required for freight, installation, improvement of the mine, bins, office accommodations, etc. So that about $50,000 added to the value of the mine and terminal property in the valley below, would place the project on a working basis.

The cost of mining coal in Emery and Carbon counties, according to information obtained, is 65c to 75c, per ton. The cost of tramming, according to the estimate of the American Steel and Wire company, for this kind of a plant, would be 10c. per ton. Allowing $1.00 per ton for mining, 25c. per ton for tramming, and 25c. per ton for incidentals, office expense, etc., the net cost would be $1.50 per ton in the company's bins in the valley within the corporate limits of Cedar City. The present price of coal here, delivered, is $4.50 per ton, and if this price were reduced $1.00, or to $3.50 per ton, the company would be assured of a net profit of from $1.50 to $2.00 per ton on coal used for local consumption, and possibly just as much on coal for transport trade after the railroad was extended to the tram.

The local market for coal is rapidly extending, and under the present primitive methods of mining and handling it is frequently the case that the supply is far behind the demand. With an abundance of coal in the bins at all time, ready to be automatically loaded into the wagons of persons sending for it from surrounding towns, this market would be greatly stimulated, and it is estimated that in all probability 10,000 tons could be sold annually, regardless of whether the railroad builded or not. This would be sufficient to insure a good dividend on the money invested, and would at the same time give the people their coal for a price substantially less than they are paying at present.

Engineers and investors on the outside look with favor on the project. Two or three times it has been confidently thought that the proposition had been financed by outside capital, but unfortunate circumstances have each time intervened. At the present time the property is under mortgage for a fraction of its value to California parties, who will acquire title if the mortgage is not paid. In this event the tram will be built, we are assured by these parties, who have unbounded faith in the project, but in this event the earnings will go to outside investors, and there is always the possibility that the resources may lie idle as our iron deposits are doing for an indefinite time.

These parties have assured the writer that if Dr. Green will get his project incorporated and in a tangible form they will be willing to assist him in financing it, so that if the proposition is too large for local capitalists, all they have to do is furnish the nucleus, perfect the organization, and then call on outside parties to supply the balance of the cash.

Among other influential people of other near-by counties who have promised to assist in financing the undertaking is Judge Joshua Greenwood, to whom it appeals strongly, and he has given assurance that if the company is organized and given support by local people, he can obtain considerable capital in Millard and Juab counties. People all the way up the line as far as Salt Lake have promised stock subscriptions, and some in our neighboring town of Parowan, where a promising coal prospect is being developed in the gap. If this project proves as good as is indicated at present, it is believed that the Salt Lake Route can be induced to build a branch from Latimer, through the gap to the Green tram, and then loop back to the main line perhaps at Modena. There have been quite strong assurances to this effect, and we learn that a committee of Parowan people will shortly go to Salt Lake and wait upon officials of the Salt Lake Route in the interests of their end of this proposition.

Under these circumstances it ought not to be hard to at least obtain the capital required for a nucleus to start this enterprise off. There are a lot of local people who are giving the matter their moral support and encouragement, and will doubtless assist it with their means when the time is ripe.

In our opinion this is a matter that should receive the support and encouragement of our Commercial club, for we know of no way at the present time in which they can do more for Cedar City and Iron county than in helping to shape up this project and place it on a commercial basis. We believe that Dr. Green is disposed to be reasonable and fair with his property, and does not even seek to retain the control of the company; but he has been working hard to start this enterprise which would be a benefit to the entire section, and requires a little assistance from local people in order to make it go.

The employment of a small army of coal miners and other workmen, with a substantial pay roll, will have a great stimulus upon local business conditions, and once we prove to the world that we have commercial coal here worth while, it will lead to the opening of all other meritorious coal properties of this region, whether reached by the tram or not. And if we can supply the coal, it is not unreasonable to expect that a market for several thousand tons of coal per day can be developed on the Pacific coast.

Let's all get in and put this proposition through.

THE ARROWHEAD TRAIL.

THE question of a direct all winter route from Salt Lake City to Los Angeles, California, over the Arrowhead Trail, is fraught with vital interest to this locality, since Cedar City and Parowan, Paragonah, Summit and Kanarra are all on the direct line of the proposed travel, and the completion of the route in good condition for use will mean, it is estimated, the daily passing of anywhere from 25 to 50 cars of tourists over the route. With the scenic attractions we will have to offer, Cedar City will receive a double benefit. Again, as Douglas White put it, "Cedar City will be the focusing point, for all this southern Utah scenery, whether the tourists come from Lund, or over the trail from Salt Lake."

After the meeting in the tabernacle last night a few boosters were called together and took steps for the organization of a local chapter of the Arrowhead Trails Association, such as are being organized in every city of consequence along the route, and it is expected that at least 100 members can be obtained here.

This trail means a great deal to Cedar City and Iron county, and it should have our unstinted support and encouragement.

With a good road into our beautiful canyon, opening to the tourist the grandeur of our scenery here, with the recently discovered spectacular natural bridge, and with in all probability this road extending over to the rim of the Little Zion canyon, we will have an asset when the through trail is in operation that will mean thousands and thousands of dollars of new found money to the people of this place every season.

Every man, woman and child that is old enough should be a booster for these good roads improvements.

See that your name is entered on the roll of honor as a member of the local chapter of the Arrowhead Trails Association, and do everything in your power to encourage and assist the building of a good road into our canyon and mountain attractions.
